

COMMITTEE RELATIONSHIPS AND COMMUNICATIONS WITH STAFF

A clear understanding of responsibilities and relationships between and among the Committee and school personnel is essential for a smoothly running and efficient school system. It should be remembered that the Committee, school administrators, teachers, and all others responsible for any phase of the work of the school system have a common and basic responsibility—the welfare of the children in the schools. This responsibility must guide all of the Committee’s considerations and decisions.

RELATIONSHIPS

Committee and Superintendent

The relationship of the Committee and the Superintendent can best be described as one of teamwork. They must function cooperatively as some of their functions are not readily separable. However, the primary functions are separable and should be clearly understood by each. The Committee is the governing body of the school unit and has the responsibility for adopting policies and providing for the care and management of the schools.

The Superintendent is the ex officio secretary of the Committee and the chief administrative officer. The Superintendent is responsible for the day to day administration of the school unit and for ensuring that the operations of the school unit conform to Committee policies and applicable law. The Committee recognizes this and wishes to make this clear to all staff members and to all citizens.

All communications or reports to the Committee, from school principals, supervisors, teachers, or other employees shall be submitted through the Superintendent.

Committee and Teachers and other School Employees

The relationship of the teacher to the Committee is indirect. The teacher is directly responsible to the Superintendent and through the Superintendent, and then to the Committee.

Other school employees, depending on their position, are directly responsible to the Superintendent or to the supervisor to whom the employee reports, and through the supervisor to the Superintendent, and then to the Committee.

Direct access between employees and the Committee may be obtained through channels established for grievances or through applicable Committee policies.

COMMITTEE COMMUNICATIONS WITH STAFF

The Committee will communicate regularly with school staff on matters of current interest and importance to the school community at such times and through such methods as the Committee deems appropriate.

Individual employees are expected to utilize communication channels established through Committee policies, administrative procedures, and agreements and not to circumvent the chain of command and their direct supervisors.

Communications with staff are the responsibility of the Committee as a whole. Individual Committee members should refrain from initiating communications or conversations with staff members on their own.
